Have you ever wanted to learn about preserving and canning your own food? Join OC Parks and The Master Food Preservers of Orange County at George Key Ranch Historic Park for a food preservation demonstration.

We will review basic canning techniques and make homemade strawberry lemonade. Participants will have the opportunity to learn what materials are required, the step-by-step process and receive tips from the experts.

Program and parking are free, but reservations are required due to limited parking on-site. Visit OCParks.com/events for more information.
